From a young age, Kendra exhibited a passion for the arts, honing her skills as a dancer for 11 years and mastering various genres, including ballet, jazz, tap, and contemporary. Growing up in the digital age, she embraced social media and its potential, which eventually led to her becoming a content creator at the age of 18. Four years ago, Kendra embarked on a rebranding journey, breaking away from an agency that limited her creative control. With her sights set on the future, she launched her highly successful YouTube channel, offering her dedicated subscribers an intimate glimpse into her life.

Kendra's channel covers a wide range of engaging content, including travel vlogs and her immensely popular fashion haul videos. Recently, Kendra has focused on highlighting lingerie, championing women's empowerment, and encouraging body confidence for individuals of all shapes and sizes. Her infectious videos have garnered an impressive 72+ million views on YouTube alone.

Born and raised in Calgary, Canada, Kendra continues to embrace her love for exploration and learning about different cultures. Most recently, Kendra embarked on a two-and-a-half-month journey throughout Bali and Thailand, immersing herself in new experiences and expanding her worldview.

Looking ahead, Kendra is actively planning to expand her presence on YouTube, brainstorming diverse content ideas to complement her renowned try-on hauls. Her upcoming ventures include exploring gaming content, vlogging, and more, as she aims to connect with her audience on a deeper level.

As she embarks on her global expansion, Kendra continues to inspire and empower her ever-growing fan base, cementing her position as a sought-after influencer and an embodiment of the "Everyday best friend."

StarCentral Magazine recently grabbed an exclusive chat with Kendra Rowe and here's the inside scoop on her industry journey:

Can you tell us more about yourself? How did you get started as an influencer?

Of course! I got my start in influencing on Youtube back in November 2018. I created fashion try-on videos, and people really liked them! From there, my Instagram took off as well, and I've been able to maintain both platforms ever since. I'm a born and raised Canadian with a passion for creating fashion content. I'm super grateful I've been able to continue growing and creating my influencer dream through my platforms.

How did you develop an interest in fashion, and what drove you to pursue that passion on social media?

Growing up, I was obsessed with watching other creators on Youtube do unboxing videos, try-ons, beauty, all of it! When I finally decided to start posting on social media, I decided to give try-on hauls a go. I would say at the beginning I wasn't super passionate about fashion, but being in the industry I've developed such a love for it. There are so many different ways to express yourself through your clothing style. It's so beautiful and I love sharing my faves on socials.

What do you like most about being an influencer?

I love the support I've received from my followers. It's so amazing to receive such positive feedback on my content. I've also been able to work with my dream brands as well as attend events curated by them. My life feels like a dream. I'm able to wake up, create content, and have freedom in my life. I love the opportunities I've been given through being an influencer.

In what way has social media changed your life?

Social media took me from an unknown path in my life to the certainty I had a career. When I started doing social media, I was in university, working two jobs trying to figure my life out. Being able to have multiple platforms has taken me from a science university major to living my dream life. I have the freedom to travel. I'm able to help those around me, and most importantly, I have peace.

What are some of the difficulties of being in the industry?

I would say that although the industry has stability, it's quickly changing. As a creator, you have to be on top of trends and know what's going on in the social media space in order to stay on top. Lots of things aren't certain in this kind of world, so it's important to stay informed on what's trending and what's not. Another thing I struggle with is balancing work and my personal life. It can be hard disconnecting from social media because it's always there. It's important to take time away and focus on yourself!

How does your thought process differ when creating content for Instagram versus content for YouTube?

Although a lot of my audience follows my Youtube and my Instagram. I try to keep my Youtube more fashion related and my Instagram more personal to who I am as a person. When creating content for Youtube, I know I'm going in high energy to really showcase how excited I am about a new haul or style. When creating for Instagram, I can be more relaxed as the content is pictures or videos where I don't have to talk. Although my platforms share the same goal, creating Instagram content is easier and requires less planning than Youtube does!

If someone is going to make your life into a movie, who would play you?

I mean, if it wasn't me starring in it, I would recommend Sydney Sweeney to the casting director. Ever since she made her debut, I have been obsessed!

What are your future plans? Inside your career or out of it.

One thing I'm shifting my energy toward is acting. I'm currently in the works of training and working on auditions, which is super exciting! I'd also love to get into more modelling, particularly lifestyle and commercials. I hope to keep growing on social media, keep creating content, and keep receiving love and support in whatever I plan to do.

RISING STAR SPOTLIGHT: INTRODUCING ANNA REDMAN

Bachelor contestant turned viral TikTok influencer Anna Redman is here to share all the must-haves for the holiday season. Whether you're shopping for your significant other, parents, Siblings, or even yourself—Anna has all the tips and tricks for the most unique and thoughtful gifts for every special someone in your life. Besides the shopping season, Anna spreads positive and relatable fashion, glowing makeup, interior design, and healthy relationship insight to her dedicated fanbase.

Born and raised in a small town in Minnesota, Anna truly is a small-town girl at heart with tips on how to thrive in any city.

StarCentral Magazine recently caught up with Anna to discuss her journey in the industry, and here's what went down:

Could you please tell our readers a brief background about yourself?

I grew up in a small town in Minnesota and moved to Chicago for school. I've always been a super crafty and creative person, so I knew a regular 9-5 was not what I would be striving for. I worked through school to get a degree in creative advertising and started a big agency! Working in the creative advertising sphere taught me so much about the business behind social media—that experience was truly priceless.

But I ended up quitting mid-pandemic to take my shot at finding love on reality TV. That didn't work out, but I did end up meeting great people during the experience—most notably my current boyfriend.

How did you become an international influencer? What's it like to be an influencer?

The show gave me a good step to start when it came to building a career in social media, but the real work started happening a year later. I started filming everything and posting it on TikTok, and people really liked it! So now, I still work in advertising full-time, and I do social media full-time. It's a great, fast-paced, hectic, and fun life!

What has been your greatest triumph, to date?

Career-wise: hitting 100K on both TikTok (@annaredman) and Instagram (@anna_redman). It's crazy to think that 100,000 care about my life and what I'm doing! I really appreciate every single one of them.

What has been your greatest lesson, and how have you used that lesson in your life?

Not to put weight on other people's opinions.

If you think too much about what others think of you, you'll never achieve anything! You'll be too scared to be the "true you," try new things, or in my world, post online!

If you could travel back in time and alter one historical event, where would you go and what would you attempt to change?

Keeping it light: Add cheerleading to the first Olympics! It deserves more hype.

What do you think you came into this life to learn, and what do you think you came here to teach?

I think I'm here to learn selflessness.

I feel like I've been on a spiritual journey this year, which is learning about ego and unlearning listening to it.

I also think I'm here to spread happiness—not really "teaching," but hopefully, it counts.

If that's through my jokes online or in person with my friends, I just want everyone around me to feel good and happy.

What projects are you working on right now?

I've been grinding out projects like crazy for the last few months of 2022. So my current project is myself. To get myself in a pique physical and mental state so that I am ready to take on the next opportunity.

Can you give us some tips and tricks for the most unique and thoughtful gifts for every special someone?

I think the best gifts are acknowledgements that you've been listening to that person! Take note of their special interests or if that says they need something or want to try something—and give that as a gift! Gifts should scream, "I KNOW YOU."

What would you still like to attempt in your career?

Everything! I'm at this cool crossroads in my life where I'm looking into what's next! It could be anything from starting a brand or trying to get my foot into the acting door! Who knows.

What advice would you give to those hoping to follow in your footsteps?

Manifest! Manifest! Manifest!

See yourself where you want to be, actually BELIEVE you could do it, and then put the work into getting there.
