EVENT REVIEW: WINTER GLAM FASHION SHOW 2024

The luxurious Sir Stamford Circular Quay played host to the Winter Glam Fashion Show last month, a dazzling night that brought together fashion enthusiasts, beauty queens, and industry insiders for an unforgettable evening of glamour and elegance. The event, proudly supported by StarCentral Magazine, featured the latest collections from renowned designers Julie Villapaz and Dan Esmalde, showcased by the illustrious Stargazer models.

The Winter Glam Fashion Show set a new standard for fashion events in Sydney. Held at the prestigious Sir Stamford Circular Quay, the five-star venue provided the perfect backdrop for an evening brimming with style and sophistication. Guests were treated to a stunning display of haute couture, with the Stargazer models gracing the runway in exquisite designs by Julie Villapaz and Dan Esmalde. Each collection highlighted the designers' exceptional talent and eye for detail, with pieces ranging from luxurious evening gowns to chic, modern ensembles.

Adding to the evening's excitement, the event introduced the new Miss Earth Australia national finalists. Claudia, Jackie, Jessica, Keisha, Fatima, and Katelyn were unveiled in a grand ceremony, each finalist showcasing not only their beauty but also their commitment to environmental advocacy and community service. These remarkable women are set to inspire and lead in their journey towards the Miss Earth Australia crown.

One of the highlights of the Winter Glam Fashion Show was the ceremonial passing of the crown from Miss International Australia 2023, Jazel Alarca, to Miss International Australia 2024, Selina McCloskey. This momentous occasion was met with applause and admiration, celebrating the achievements of Jazel Alarca during her reign and welcoming Selina McCloskey as she embarks on her new role. Both queens exemplify grace, intelligence, and dedication, and their presence added a touch of prestige to the evening.

The event also honoured the Stargazer models, whose poise and professionalism brought the designers' creations to life. Awards were presented to several standout models, recognizing their contributions to the fashion industry and their exceptional performances on the runway. The Stargazer models continue to set the bar high, representing the epitome of elegance and sophistication.

The Winter Glam Fashion Show was more than just a fashion event; it was a celebration of beauty, talent, and empowerment. With the support of StarCentral Magazine as the media partner, the event received extensive coverage, ensuring that the stunning designs and memorable moments reached a wide audience. Fashion and Pageantry

Selina's love for fashion is another aspect of her multifaceted personality. She enjoys competing in Fashions on the Field at the races, and her talent and style have earned her a sash every time she has competed. Her passion for fashion is not just about personal style; it is also a platform for her to express her creativity.

Meet Jemima Joycelyn, the visionary mind behind Creative Commercial Services, a dynamic marketing agency that transforms ideas into impactful realities. With a laser focus on graphic design, web design, social media prowess, content creation, thorough research, business development, and a spectrum of print solutions, Jemima takes pride in steering brands toward resounding success.

By seamlessly integrating market research and innovative services, they orchestrate a symphony of print and digital marvels. Their canvas extends to businesses, service centers, organizations, and individuals alike, creating a comprehensive toolkit for turning visions into achievements. Jemima and Creative Commercial Services are definitely igniting visions, nurturing growth, and sculpting success, one creative endeavour at a time. We recently caught up with Jemima and here's what went down:

Can you tell us about the inspiration behind starting your Marketing Agency and how your journey in the industry began?

My inspiration was simple. My clients inspired me to turn my freelance business into a company and Creative.Commercial.Services Pty Ltd was born.

As a highly-strung, innovative creative, I enjoy assisting brands to grow and develop into their best potential. I have over 15+ years of industry experience as a graphic designer, marketer, and business development strategist, and worked with many brands in different industry sectors.

Your agency offers a wide range of creative commercial services, including graphic design, print, content creation, marketing, and business development. How do you ensure that each service complements the others to provide a comprehensive solution for your clients?

Great question! Innovation plays a key factor. Upon consultation, we'd like to entail all the nitty gritty parts of the business and understand the key marketing components required in order to achieve the desired outcome. It doesn't matter the scope of work; it can be as simple as a flyer design. Always asking the right questions is how we go by it; e.g., is branding the focus, promotional, or just a service you would like to emphasise? Then lay out a plan that fits the budget. If the client is open to expanding, I am only deeply excited to be working towards our goal.

Your mission is to provide the best possible service and solutions to make businesses stand out at their best. How do you ensure that you consistently deliver on this promise to your clients?

100% customer satisfaction is our top priority, and building customer relationships and transparency is highly valued within our business.

Educating clients on the back end of things and the outcome is part of our process. This creates a general overview and knowledge between both parties towards the project, its time frame, concepts, revisions, and many other details in the process. This working partnership helps us stay true to our core mission and provides our clients with 100% customer care, quality, and service.
